The Best and Cheapest Organ in the World.

The following flattering notice is taken from a Chicago paper:

"THE ESTEY ORGAN.—It won the first premium at the Fairs held this season at Adrian and Kalamazoo, and has just carried off the first prize at the State Fair just closed at Fort Wayne, where, with only two stops, the Estey Organ, for power, purity and sweetness of tone, was awarded the preference over a Mason & Hamlin organ of twelve stops, and all competitors. The great advantage of the Estey over every other organ of the kind manufactured, consists in the more perfect and scientific arrangement of its reeds, which are erect, instead of horizontally placed, and thus creating much fuller, more sonorous and pleasing effects. Professional musicians and connoisseurs alike concede their superiority, and to great is the demand that the manufacturers can hardly meet the supply, especially as some of the oldest houses in the seaboard cities are now sending in their orders to fill the requisitions of their customers, who prefer these instruments to any other in use."

The agents, Messrs. Wamelink & Barr, No. 127 Clair street, are meeting with great success in the sale of these superb instruments. Persons musically educated have purchased them after thoroughly testing all other makes, giving the "Cottage Organ" the preference. The prices are also less than any others.

The Grand Secret.

The grand secret in medication is to help Nature. SUSTAIN and REGULATE—these are the Alpha and Omega of the only theory or cure that has common sense for its basis. If the nervous system is shattered, the muscles weak, and the mind, like the body, in a state of partial collapse—what is it best to do? Reason teaches us the answer:

EUREKA UP YOUR MAN.

Brace him up as you would brace a tottering edifice. The pabulum he needs is a Tonic Alterative. Bring him up out of the depths of debility and despondency.

WITH HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

They cannot injure. A child may take them in doses suited to its years, without the possibility of harm. The enfeebled vital powers are sure to respond energetically to their action as the wilted grass is to erect its blades under the vivifying and refreshing rain. In all cases of debility the Bitters are absolutely required. There is no substitute or succedaneum that will fill their place. Resort to this purest and most wonderful of Modern Tonics,

AND ALL WILL BE WELL.

Bear in mind that in Dyspepsia, Intermittent Fevers, Bilious Disorders, and Affections of the Nerves, no other medicine will produce more than the good effect that invariable follows the use of the great Invigorator and Corrective. Sold everywhere.—N. Y. Tribune, Dec. 27, 1865.

Hostetter's Bitters

From Fortress Monroe—Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 7.—Since the arrival of Mrs. Davis here, she has tenderly looked after the failing state of her husband's health, and entertains a hope that the progress of his ultimate recovery should he be attacked during the coming summer by one of his periodical colds of intermittent fever and congestive chills. The general health of Mr. Davis remains comparatively good, and it is only the long imprisonment that he has been subjected to and the many anxious fears and doubts which have weighed so heavily upon his mind, that has produced the very notable change in his appearance during the past year.

The Grand Jury which was to have met in Norfolk to-day has held no session as yet.

He had previously told his confessor that he believed death was the only expiation for his crimes, and that he was willing to suffer. No person except his confessor will be allowed to visit him. To-day twice years ago Probst landed in this country.

INDIAN COUNCIL AT FORT LARIMIE.

&c., &c., &c.

NEW YORK, May 9.—The Herald's special says: There is no longer room to doubt the President's action on the Colorado bill. His intention to veto is unmistakeable. The principal objection urged against it is reported to be the floating and unstable character of its population, although there are others sufficiently valid.

The excitement connected with the suspension of the Merchants' National Bank has comparatively subsided. An examination has been going on for two days, under the auspices of the Government, and is not yet concluded.

The Military Commission, convened by a special order from the War Department, met in Union block and organized for the trial of Major Paulding. A few witnesses were examined, and the Court adjourned until to-morrow.

It is rumored in military circles that an order discharging all volunteer general officers will emanate in a few days. Most of these officers hold offices in the regular army, and in consequence of the expected order they will only be reduced to subordinate positions, and will not be entirely mustered out.

The United States Treasurer yesterday authorized the shipment of $45,000 in fractional currency to different banks.

The Times' special denies the statement that there was general distrust of the banks in Washington, and says no run has been made upon them.

The same special says: Secretary McCullough, who made a trip to Fortress Monroe and back, leaving here on Saturday and returning on Monday morning last, had, while at Fortress Monroe, a moment's conversation with Jeff. Davis. There was nothing of special interest in the interview, the conversation being general and quite brief. Mr. Davis is not enjoying very good health.

The Government has finally determined to hold the gold claimed by the Richmond banks as belonging to them, some account of the seizure of which I have given already. The proofs seem to establish clearly that the gold belonged to the so-called Southern Confederacy, and was on deposit with the banks, subject to the drafts of the Confederacy.

The Tribune's special says: Commissioner of Indian affairs is making arrangements to hold a council with the Indians on the plains at Fort Laramie for treaty with them. A telegram received yesterday from B. Taylor, Superintendent at Omaha, states that twenty thousand Indians will attend, and desires to know what subsistence can be furnished them.

The Senate Committee, appointed to examine into the present telegraph system have called upon the Postmaster General to report in regard to the expediency of connecting it with the postal system. WASHINGTON, May 9.—Official reports of the Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau in the Commissary Department, for the month of April, show a continued improvement in the relations between the white and black races in the late States recently in rebellion. The freedmen seem to be gaining a more correct notion of their responsibilities as well as privileges in their new character of freedmen, and where they conduct themselves inoffensively, the whites are becoming more disposed to treat them kindly and deal justly with them.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

The Valparaiso Bombardment.

STATEMENT OF THE SPANISH ADMIRAL.

NEW YORK, May 9.—The steamer New York, from Aspinwall on the 2d, arrived bringing California mails of the 19th.

Panama advices state that the news from South America is unimportant, matters having remained perfectly quiet since the bombardment of Valparaiso. All the Spanish fleet except the Venezuela, had sailed for Northern ports. The Italian Consul General sent a note to the Spanish Admiral, saying his Government would hold Spain responsible for the damage to Italian property in Valparaiso. The Admiral refused to receive his note.

The bark Clara Rosalie had been burned by the officers at Yenezuela.

Immediately after the bombardment of Valparaiso, the English Minister was requested to vacate the premises occupied by him, and no one will rent him another house. His name was also struck from the list of members of the Club de la Union. Only two lives were lost and eight persons wounded. Several churches were destroyed and one hundred and fifty-one private residences, valued at half a million, and containing upwards of eight millions of dollars worth of foreign merchandize. Five hundred and fifty thousand dollars will repair all the damage to public edifices, whilst the bulk of the loss will fall on foreigners. At Callao, preparations were actively making for the reception of the Spanish fleet by the fortifications.

A letter from Spanish Admiral Nunsee to the Spanish Minister in Washington, gives a different version of the negotiations preceding the bombardment. It recites that Minister Kilpatrick and Commodore Rogers proposed a cessation of hostilities and peaceful settlement to be signalized by a reciprocal salute of Chilian and Spanish flags at the same moment. He says:

I regretted this arrangement, acknowledging however good the intention that suggested it, and stating that the instructions of my Government were so positive that notwithstanding any difficulties I might have to overcome, and should I go to the bottom of the Pacific in the attempt, I must have from Chili the satisfaction which was due to us. Moved nevertheless by a sincere desire for reconciliation, I would take upon myself the immense responsibility of not requiring any other satisfaction than that contained in the arrangement proposed by England and France and accepted by Spain, to which I would add the restitution of the Canalejas, with its stores, arms, and crew, in return for the prizes and prisoners I had in my power. Subsequently he was informed by the American and English admirals, that they could not remain passive spectators, and that they might be compelled to oppose him with force. My answer was, that the question of right decision belonged to my Government, but that as an officer I should obey my orders, and that whatever might be the attitude assumed by the naval forces then in the bay, however reluctant I might be to come to such an extremity, however formidable those forces might be, no earthly consideration should detain me from the discharge of my duty. He represents also that Admiral Rogers and Denman approved his determination, and subsequently both approved his final answer to Chilian. He says, however, he was confidently expected the Congress of England and the United States would oppose the bombardment.

New Trial Granted.

BOSTON, May 9.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. F. O. J. Smith, convicted of subornation of perjury, the verdict has been set aside and a new trial granted on condition that the defendant's counsel agree in writing, to allow the testimony of the principal Government witness deceased since the verdict, to be used in a future trial.

THE SPANISH-CHILIAN WAR.

Proposed Telegraphic Communication with the West Indies Islands.

BILLS APPROVED BY THE PRESIDENT.

Audience to Methodist Conference Delegates.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—An official decree from the Government of Chili declares that neutral vessels which unicate with the ships of the Spanish sq n or which furnish them fuel, provis ns ammunition or any other supplies, will e permitted to touch or load in any port of the Republic.

The Department of State has been officially informed by the Spanish Government that fossil coal, the product of the mines of Chili declared to be contraband of war by the commander of the Spanish squadron in the Pacific, will only be considered such contraband of war in case of its being dispatched from Chilian ports for the enemy's ships.

The Postoffice Department has made a contract for the conveyance of the mails from New Orleans via Galveston to Indianola and back, three times a week, in suitable steamships.

The President has approved the bill to encourage telegraphic communication between the United States and the West India Islands and the Bahamas. It provides that the International Ocean Telegraph Company, corporated under the laws of the State of New York, their successors and assignees, shall have the sole privilege for fourteen years to lay, construct, maintain and operate telegraphic or magnetic wires or cables, in and over the waters, reefs, islands, shores and lands over which the United States have jurisdiction, from the shores of the State of Florida to the island of Cuba and the Bahamas or both, and other West India islands. The company shall, at the time, give the United States the free use of said cable to a telegraph operator of its own selection, to transmit any message to and from its military, naval, diplomatic or consular agents, and the company shall keep all its lines open to the public for the transmission, for daily publications, of markets, commercial reports, intelligence messages, dispatches and communications and forwarded in the order in which they shall be received; and the company shall not be permitted to charge and collect for messages through any of its submarine cable more than the rate $5.00 for messages of 20 words, subject, however, to the power of Congress to alter and determine said rate, provided that the International Ocean Telegraph Company shall, within the period of three years after the passage of this act, cause the said submarine cable or cables to be laid down; and that the said cable or cables shall be in successful operation for the transmission of messages within the said period of five years—otherwise this grant to be null and void. Congress reserves the power to, at any time, alter or repeal the above act.

The President has also approved the bill extending the time for the completion of the Union Pacific Railroad, eastern division, until the 27th of June, 1866. The time for completing each succeeding one hundred miles, is to be reckoned from that date. This bill also extends for two years, the time for commencing and completing the Northern Pacific Railroad and all its several sections.

The President to-day, by appointment, gave an audience to the delegates of the general conference of the Methodist Protestant church now in session in Georgetown, District Columbia, Alabama, Virginia, Maryland and District of Columbia only, are represented, it having been said that those appointed from the other Southern States had not the means to pay the expenses of travel. The presiding officer of the conference introduced the delegates severally to the President, intimating that they had unanimously adopted come to pay their respects to him. Alluding to the fiery ordeal through which the Southern people had passed, they congratulated the President of the difficulties which environed them and the poverty which they were now suffering, though this might be ascribed to the misfortune of the institution of slavery, present at the Conference. He might continue his remarks, but he feared to trespass on the President's indulgence. He, however, prayed that the blessings of Almighty God might rest upon the President, and that the Lord would give him the requisite wisdom and strength to perform successfully the duties devolving upon him responded with an enthusiastic amen.

The President thanked thanked the delegates for their courtesy in complimenting him on his visit. He trusted the prayer they had offered would be heard and answered by the Power to which it was addressed, and that all honest efforts of the country would be crowned with success. He hoped the day was not distant when peace and prosperity would be restored to an undivided country.

A bill to incorporate the National Theological Institution of the District of Columbia, was passed. The object of the institute is the education of colored men for the Christian ministry.

Mr Grimes introduced a resolution instructing the Committee on Naval Affairs to report upon the expediency of providing by law that no public officer shall deposit government funds except in United States sub-treasuries where such exist, and in the United States Treasury in Washington, which was adopted.

Mr. Cowan spoke in defence of the President, for whom he would say to the Senate, get your tribunal and a hundred, or five hundred, and we want them, of the leaders with Jeff. Davis at their head; we are ready for you.

Mr. Doolittle, in a brief speech, reviewed the relations of the President to the Union party, alleging that he was adhering to the Baltimore Platform, upon which he was elected.

Mr. Nye made some remarks commendatory of the President's exercise of the pardoning power in the case of rebels.

Without action, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported a bill to repeal the 23d section of the act of the Thirty-seventh Congress, entitled "An act to amend, and to punish the then existing law in reference to persons liable to military duty. The bill was considered and passed.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the special order, it being the constitutional amendment reported from the Reconstruction Committee.

Mr. Broomall, of Pennsylvania, said it is to be expected that the Joint Resolution would receive opposition from the unrepentant thirty-three; that it was useless to attempt to argument upon them. It was to be expected that the six Johnsonian new converts to Democracy would oppose the measure, commencing with the gentleman from New York (Mr. Raymond) and ending with the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. Smith), who had the disease in the mildest and most tolerable form. On them, too, argument was useless. There must therefore be thirty-nine votes against the measure, and he would there should be no more. So far from leaving the Union orphans, it was the most popular institution of the South. Treason has been made popular there, and loyalty had become unpopular.

Mr. Shanklin next took the floor in opposition to the measure. He said the first proposition contained in the measure struck at the reserved rights of the States; those rights which the founders of the Constitution believed essential to the existence of the government. It proposed to strike down these rights and establish a centralized despotic general government. The second proposition disfranchised the people of the States which had gone into rebellion until the chains of oppression could be riveted on them almost all time to come. If these people submitted to the terms sought to be imposed upon them they ought not to come back in the Union, and ought not to hold place or position as American citizens. They might have been disloyal, but their history showed them not an inferior race. They had been overpowered not by numbers, but by superior wisdom and bravery. He admitted they had erred, but they had believed they were right, and had acted on that belief.

Mr. Raymond was the next speaker. He expressed his gratification at the Reconstruction Committee having submitted their scheme as a whole, and illustrated the danger of submitting only one portion at a time, by reference to the recent course of the British Ministry on the Reform bill—the Ministry having commenced the session with a clear majority of sixty, which majority had dwindled down to five because the Ministry persisted in bringing forward only one portion of the Reform scheme. He expressed his belief that all States to be affected by the proposed measure should be represented, but he did not hold it to be essential to the validity of Congressional action and of Constitutional amendments that they should be thus represented.

The debate was further continued by Messrs McKee and Eldridge. In the course of a colloquy between Messrs. Wilson, of Iowa, and Raymond, the speaker stated that he understood it was intended to bring the measure to a vote to-morrow, and that there were thirty gentlemen still desiring to speak.

In the course of Mr. Raymond's remarks, he expressed his approval of the measure, except the third section. He also alluded to the eagerness with which Mr. Stevens acceded to the suggestion of the name of General Grant as a candidate of the Union party in 1868 for President, as giving assurance that there would be no dissent in the party on that subject when the right time should come.

Mr. Eldridge spoke against the joint resolution, and denounced the Reconstruction Committee as having entirely disappointed the country.

Mr. Mckee supported the measure. He proposed to amend Mr. Garfield's motion to reconnect with instructions, by striking out the second section, and inserting the following: "All persons who voluntarily adhered to the late insurrection, giving aid and comfort to the so-called Confederate States, are forever excluded from holding any office of trust or profit under the Government of the United States."

Mr. Boutwell denounced the Democratic party, whose position every traitor in the South and every sympathiser with treason in the North sustained; and in this hour of national peril, it was their sad misfortune to be compelled to admit that he who secured the suffrages of the people for a second office in the Government accepted the doctrine of the Democratic party as his policy.

Mr. Boutwell supported the measure before the House.

Messrs. Spaulding, Miller, Elliott and Shellabergar spoke in favor of the joint resolution.

Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, called Mr. Raymond to task about some supposed inconsistency between his present position on the Civil Rights bill, which Mr. Raymond, acknowledging the interest taken in his record by the gentleman from Iowa, explained to be entirely consistent all round.

Mr. Stevens gave notice that at three o'clock to-morrow he would move the previous question, and the same to the joint resolution.

Mr. Bidwell introduced a bill relative to Round Valley and other Indian reservations in the State of California, and a bill to establish post routes in that State. Both were read twice and appropriately referred.

Mr. Julian introduced a bill concerning the elective franchise in the territories of the United States and territories about to form States into the Union. This was read twice and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Julian introduced a bill to regulate proceedings before Justices of the Peace. This was read twice and referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

The Speaker presented a letter from the Attorney General transmitting a list of his clerks, &c., in compliance with the House resolution of the 7th of May.

Mr. S. L. Thomas presented the petition of the citizens of Baltimore, Maryland, engaged in the manufacture of glass ware, praying for the imposition of a tariff thereon, which was referred.

Mr. Conkling presented the petition of citizens of Otzego county, New York, asking for the passage of laws taxing non-resident state insurance, and they were all appropriately referred.

The House at half past four took a recess till half past seven o'clock, when the consideration of the tax bill is to be resumed.

EVENING SESSION.—The consideration of the tax bill commencing at the 7th section, which refers to the regulating, assessing and collecting of the tax on stamps, was completed.

Several amendments were made, and instead of imprisonment provided for the crime of perjury in relation to the tax, it was amended so as to simply subject the offender to punishment prescribed by the existing statutes.

To section eighth, relating to the same matter, no important amendments were made.

Section ninth contains a large number of paragraphs, amending in detail, sections of the existing revenue act.

Mr. Spaulding called attention to the immense power reposed in assessors by the act to impose fines and penalties for alleged violations of fraud, and mentioned some instances to illustrate his idea. He moved an amendment to come in at the end of the paragraph amending section 11 of the present law, providing that in the case now pending in the Allegheny and Chicago Railway Company," which was written by Gen Cass and published in 1863. It is a thorough examination of the affairs of fraud, and mentioned some of the letter, rather too modestly as we think, conceals his own eminent services in the various negotiations and transactions of the company.

We desire to express our obligations to W. H. Barnes, Esq., for the facilities afforded us during our visit for obtaining the above items. We have also to thank Mr. Hemphill, the Comptroller of the Company, and in each position he has shown the bearing of a gentleman. We are also under many obligations to F. R. Myers, Esq., the General Ticket Agent, for courtesies shown us during our visit. Mr. Myers is always at his desk, and no matter how deeply engaged he may be (and he always seems to be), is ready to give every information in his power with minuteness and patience. No more intelligent officer and more accomplished and pleasant. His face wears a constant smile.

Railroad Office Removed.

The general office of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company has been removed from Fifth street to their new and beautiful building, corner of Wayne and Penn street.

The Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad Company was incorporated in the spring of 1846, and the work of construction commenced in the latter end of 1849. Under the presidency of General William Robinson, Jr., the work was pushed forward with great energy and rapidity, and on the 11th of April, 1853, the road was opened for traffic between Allegheny City and Crestline, a distance of one hundred and eighty-seven miles.

The Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company was formally organized in the city of Pittsburgh, on the 26th of February, 1857, by the consolidation of the Ohio and Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, and the Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad companies.

For some time after the opening of the road the office business was principally transacted in the building in Allegheny now occupied as a depot. The President and, if we remember right, some other officials had an office for some time on Fourth street. The Company having purchased a lot on Fifth street, and erected a large building, the general office business was transferred there. But even after calling into requisition some rooms in adjoining edifices, the accommodations were inadequate for the increasing business. The result of all is that the Company have erected a magnificent building on the corner of Penn and Wayne streets, to which they have now removed their general business. The office is a credit to the munificence and liberality of the Company as well as to the city. It is in the form of a square, or, more correctly speaking, a parallelogram, and is 80 feet long, 45 feet wide, and three stories high, and cost $150,000. It is a very model of convenience and comfort. Immediately on entering off Penn street, an index or bulletin board meets the eye, on which directions are given as to the rooms in which the heads of departments will be found. On the first floor, rooms No. 1 and 2 are occupied by W. P. Shinn, Esq., the General Freight Agent; 3 by J. K. Shinn, Esq., the Agent for lost freight; 4 by manifest clerks; 5 and 7 by J. D. Lynch, Esq., Superintendent of the Eastern Division, and 6 and 8 by the Freight agent and cashier of Penn station, Messrs. B. H. Rhine and W. G. Gibson. On the second floor No. 9 is occupied by the Treasurer and Secretary, and immediately adjoining are two rooms for the President and Directors; Nos. 10 and 11 by J. N. McCullough, Esq., the General Superintendent and his auxiliaries; Nos. 12 and 13 by the General Ticket agent, F. R. Myers, Esq. On the third floor room 14 is for the Engineer department; 15 is the private office of W. H. Barnes, Esq., the Comptroller; 16 is a store room for stationery; 18 is the office of the Chief Engineer and Architect, Mr. Jacobs. H. H. Gilbert & Slataper, and 19 is a room for committees. In addition, there is a spacious attic which is used for filing away the books and papers of the United States mail for the States to the third story, and there is an apartment on each floor for the deposit and safe keeping of the company's valuable papers. The building, the first story of which is of beautiful stone and the remainder of pressed brick, is fire-proof throughout. The floors are of iron and cement and give no sound when tread upon.

Our space this morning will not allow us to do justice to this magnificent structure, nor have we room to mention the names of the contractors. The architects were Barr Moser, and the building was erected under the superintendence of Mr. Barr. In our next issue we will endeavor to mention the names of the contractors.

Court Proceedings.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—Hon. Wilson McCandless presiding.

WEDNESDAY, May 9th.—The Court assembled at the appointed hour, ten o'clock, when the case of the United States vs. James Alton was taken up. The prisoner was indicted for passing a counterfeit fifty dollar greenback upon George Smith, tavern-keeper on Fulton street, Sixth ward, in February last. The first speaking witness (Smith) testified that on the 6th of February the prisoner came to his tavern, called for a glass of beer, and asked if he (Smith) could change a note. He produced a fifty dollar greenback (offered in evidence and identified), which witness changed for him. The prisoner received the full amount of the change, and paid five "coppers" for his beer. Half an hour after, ascertaining the bill to be counterfeit, he made information against Alton before Alderman Morrow, of the Eighth ward. Alton had been arrested previously, and at the magistrate's office handed over the money he had received from Smith, and asked to be let off. The prisoner said he had been in the army and had received the note in question from his paymaster.

Upon cross-examination, in answer to the question whether he did not testify, in his examination before Commissioner Sproul, that he identified the note by a "little tear" upon it, Smith replied that "he might and might not have said so;" told the Commissioner that there was a 'little tear' upon the note." In his direct examination, Smith said that he identified the note by the letter and number which he took down upon a piece of paper at the Alderman's office. He sent his little girl (twelve years of age) to Gardner's drug store, to ascertain whether it was good or bad. Before she returned he gave the change to the prisoner, and after so doing he went after his little girl, met her at the drug store, and learning that the note was worthless, returned to his tavern. Finding that Alton had gone, he at once pursued him, down Decatur street.

John Stein was in the tavern at the time Alton produced the fifty dollar bill and asked change for it, and being called on the stand corroborated Smith's evidence. He joined in the pursuit of Alton and assisted in arresting him. At the time the bill was presented, Andrew Kretz, a tailor, pronounced it genuine, but not being entirely satisfied of the fact, Smith took it to the Alderman's office and left it with the drug store to make further inquiry, meanwhile giving Alton the change he desired.

John Fass testified that on the 24 day of February—four days prior to the examination at Smith's—he saw Alton in Lawrenceville, and asked him if he had "that note yet?" He (Alton) answered in the affirmative, and said he thought it was good. Went to Savings Bank, where it was pronounced counterfeit. The note offered in evidence, Fass said, was the bill he saw in the possession of Alton in Lawrenceville.

Mr. Cameron, for two years Clerk in the Custom House, (during which time he has handled millions of genuine notes,) testified that the note was an imitation of the genuine in every respect, but the execution and general appearance was bad.

Cosmo Pizza—Judge Stowe on the bench.

The case of Buffum & Kelley vs. Guthrie & Sill, heretofore reported, was concluded yesterday morning. The jury found for the plaintiffs in the sum of $379.10. The next cause taken up was that of Jacob Smith vs. Gardner & Schleiter. The jury found in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $21.70, the full amount claimed.

DISTRICT COURT.—Judge Williams presiding.

The case of Lyons & Smith vs. Elder & Clark, noticed briefly on Wednesday, was resumed yesterday morning. As stated, this was an action to recover damages sustained by an advertisement in the second page, headed "For Sale—$1,600—Iowa Land." The bargain offered is a good one, as may be learned on inquiry of any one acquainted with property in that part of Iowa.

Qualified.—Gen. A. L. Pearson, on motion of District Attorney Carnahan, and John McCarthy, Esq., and Hon. A. M. Brown, were qualified and admitted to practice in the United States Courts yesterday.

NEW YORK, May 9.—The Herald's Fortress Monroe letter asserts that Secretary McCulloch reports that the prison treatment extended to Jeff. Davis is exceedingly severe.

MR. EDGAR COWAN was elected to the United States by the Republicans, as a radical. He had a reputation of going to extremes, and came honestly by it. Mr. CHARLES R. BUCKALEW was elected to that body, by the Democrats, as an ultra-conservative; that is, as a man who went to just as great an extreme as Mr. COWAN, but in the opposite direction. He lagged behind the march of the age as persistently as Mr. COWAN ran before it.

Both of these Senators possess more than ordinary abilities, and have culture and attainments quite outside and beyond the current of their professional and public lives. With these points of agreement drawing them together, there are many dissimilarities of ideas and deportment that tend to drive them apart.

Mr. BUCKALEW, contrary to his habit when in the State Senate, has not, at Washington, been demonstrative and pushing. Avoiding speech making; always courteous, attentive and self-possessed, he has won the personal esteem of almost every Senator on the Republican as well as the Democratic side.

Mr. COWAN has taken a very active part in the proceedings of the Senate, has made many speeches, and some of very considerable intellectual ability. We doubt if a member of the Senate, besides BAYARD of Delaware, and DAVIS of Kentucky, has even ever professed to hold him in esteem.

In the Senate Mr. COWAN and Mr. BUCKALEW, with their diverse antecedents, have almost invariably voted together on divisions of a political nature. The change of position has not been mutual. It is not a case in which opposing forces, by corresponding advances on the part of each, have finally been made to coalesce. Mr. BUCKALEW has not shifted his principles a jot. He was with the rebel leaders before the war began; was with them in sympathy all through the war. Now, he is laboring not simply to shield them from punishment but to restore them, unrepentant and disloyal as before, to seats of influence and authority in the nation. The change is altogether in Mr. COWAN. He is not what he was. From being a loyal Republican he has become a copperhead Democrat.

Till the present session of the Senate few men have stood in plainer antagonism than Mr. COWAN and Mr. ANDREW JOHNSON. So long as Mr. JOHNSON resisted the rebels and was resolved, so far as he had power, that they should be put down at all hazards, Mr. COWAN was opposed to him, and all the principles he espoused. Now they are drawn together. JOHNSON, COWAN and BUCKALEW are members of a political firm here in Pennsylvania, and are endeavoring to lay the foundations for a large traffic with political gentlemen, commercially inclined. Mr. BUCKALEW is the "original Jacobs." He stands to day where he has stood all his life. The senior members are appearing, as the showmen say, "in novel and striking characters."

The grand point these gentlemen design to make is to defeat Republican candidates for Congress and the Legislature next fall. Copperhead votes are wanted in the House of Representatives at Washington, to help the rebel members back again, or to help them to a majority if they shall be put back by force. Copperhead votes are wanted in the Legislature at Harrisburg to give Mr. COWAN a renewal of the Senatorship, in order that he may co-operate to secure the unconditional restoration of the rebel leaders. To this end the President has placed the federal patronage in this Commonwealth, so far as he has control over it, in the hands of Messrs. COWAN and BUCKALEW. These two men, Democrats—the one by all his professions and commitments, the other, to all intents, purposes and constructions whatsoever—have detectives going up and down to spy out Republicans who are willing to sell their principles for office. Mr. COWAN hunts for Republicans of this sort. Mr. BUCKALEW hunts for them. Why should Mr. BUCKALEW? Because every Republican taken in this snare is to become a Democrat.

Who are the band of detectives employed? The Democratic leaders of the respective counties. In one district we know a Democrat who publicly announced, during the first year of the war, that he was ready "to inaugurate war in these Northern hills and valleys in aid of the rebellion," who has actually controlled the most important appointments. These are the men that JOHNSON and COWAN are operating with. Their profession of being in the Republican party, and of acting with it, is a sham and fraud, the like of which in ordinary business matters ought swiftly to bring indictments for false pretences upon them. They are not of the Republican party, and mean to do that party all the damage they can.

THE REPUBLICAN majority in the Senate, in the matter of appointments to office, follow a rule marked by so much sterling good sense that it must be perfectly satisfactory to the great bulk of the party they represent. In all cases where vacancies exist by reason of death, resignation, change of residence, or dismissal for cause, no objection is made because the nominees stand with the President on Reconstruction, or nearer the President than they do to Congress. All such nominees, unless valid objections are raised to character or competency, will be confirmed. But in all cases where the President removes faithful officers because they stand nearer to Congress than to him, his nominees will certainly be rejected.

MR. SEWARD'S home organ, in a carefully prepared leader, formidable both in manner and matter, and disclosing the pen of no ordinary writer in its authorship, recently stated that the President would use military force to give the Southern delegations seats in the next Congress, provided such a proceeding would secure a certain majority for his Policy in the Houses. Mr. SEWARD was interrogated by a friend, concerning this suggestion. He answered with the interrogatory, "Do you think we are all damned fools?" Mr. SEWARD is a diplomatist, who does not always deem it wise to say the thing he means.

SOME DAYS ago a Republican of great eminence mildly expostulated with the President for turning out of office a man of great consistency and purity and putting in his place a person of facile and complying disposition. Said the President—"I am for rotation, and this is but the beginning of what I mean to do." He does not mean Mr. COWAN shall rotate, or any men of that stamp; only Republicans who are true to their principles. Yet the President's defenders talk as if they felt a war was made on him. He has commenced a war on the party that honored him with its confidence, and promoted him to be the Chief Magistrate of the nation. He seeks the life of that party; or, at least, to surrender if, bound hand and foot, into the power of the rebels. Resistance to these machinations, fidelity to the doctrines and traditions of that party, are counted as offenses against the President.

AN intelligent lady friend, resident in Arkansas for many years, in a private letter, says:

"The condition of affairs in Arkansas is not as favorable as six months ago. The rebels who, at the time of the surrender, would have accepted any terms from the government, would take nothing from it now, and are clamorous for power. I often ask what the end of all these things will be."

This altered tone is the legitimate fruit of My Policy.

ASSASSINATION OF AN AGENT OF THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.—The following dispatch was received yesterday by Gen. Howard, dated Vicksburg, May 4, 1866:

"An assistant sub commissioner of the bureau, Lieutenant J. B. Blandig, was assassinated at Grenada on the night of the 30th ult. Every effort will be made to ferret out and bring the murderer to justice.

"THOMAS J. WOOD, Major Gen."

OLD FRANCIS P. BLAIR and his son Montgomery (late Postmaster General) are confidential advisers of the President. Montgomery, walking in the corriders of the capitol, does not hesitate to say, that unless the President's Policy shall be adopted, the war will be re-opened within six months.

Mr. Bancroft and Earl Russell.

It will be remembered that Mr. Bancroft's allusion to England, in his commemorative oration, in February last, on President Lincoln's death, called forth a good deal of comment. It so touched, it seems, the sensibilities of Earl Russell that he wrote Mr. Adams a letter, pleading not guilty of Mr. Bancroft's impeachment of himself. The letter was sent, by his request, to Mr. Bancroft, who replied, quoting Earl Russel's letters and the speech referred to by him in justification of the assertions of the oration. The sum and substance of the correspondence is, that Mr. Bancroft asserted that at the commencement of the late civil war the British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs made haste to send word through the palaces of Europe that the great republic was in its agony; that the republic was no more; that a headstone was all that remained due by the lawful nations to "the late Union." Earl Russell, in his reply, says: "Soon after the news of the resistance in arms of the Southern States to the government of the Union arrived in this country, a member of the House of Commons stated in his place that the bubble of republicanism had burst. I replied in the same debate that the bubble of republicanism had not burst, and that if the curse of slavery still hung about the United States, it was England that had made them the gift of the poisoned garment which was now their torment. In fact, I have never had any doubt that whether the United States consented to separation or pursued the war to extremity, the great western republic would remain, happily for the world, a powerful and independent republic."

History as Revised by Democrats.

It is worthy of remark that the less the enemies of Massachusetts know about her, the more bitterly they attack her. Even so wise a man as Andrew Johnson is not accurately acquainted with the history of that commonwealth. For, in his instructive and eloquent harangue to the "soldiers" and "sailors," he forcibly asked, if Shay's rebellion put Massachusetts out of the Union? Any one of his audience might have answered "no" on historical, but not on constitutional grounds, because the Massachusetts rebellion, as Mr. Johnson calls Shay's riot, occurred under the confederatoh, a year or more before the present Union was formed.

So, too, the Free Press of this city alludes to Massachusetts signalling with blue lights in the war of 1812. The story about the blue lights is not well authenticated; and even if it were, the blue lights have as much to do with Massachusetts as the loyal exploit of Robert Small with the steamer Planter has to do with the patriotism of the Free Press. The story of the blue lights is told of Connecticut Federalists on the shores of Long Island Sound.

If the prejudices of the two distinguished sources of historical information we have alluded to had only permitted them to inquire into these facts, their ignorance would not have made them ridiculous. But prejudice and ignorance are always found in hearty co-operation, developing and strengthening each other. Men who try to walk on the narrowness of impulse and passion are constantly tumbling into the mud of bigotry on the one hand, or the mire of stupidity on the other.—Detroit Post.

"North" and "South" in Germany.

The rationale of the difference between Prussia and Austria may be stated very briefly. One country is Protestant, the other is Catholic. Prussia, as a kingdom, is not much older than a century and a half; Austria claims to have been a monarchy for ages. Protestant Prussia desires to be greater, grander and more powerful than Austria; in short, to be the ruling influence in Germany—it is a strife between North and South. Prussian policy would turn Germany into Prussia; while Austria would prevent this, and make herself the predominant power. Prussia, which is badly off for seaports, wishes to annex the Danish Duchies of Holstein and Schleswig, but Austria, which occupies the former, will not consent to be turned out by Prussia. The aim of the House of Brandenburg is to obtain not only the Danish Duchies, but also the Kingdoms of Saxony and Hanover, and the Duchy of Brunswick, all three adjoining Prussia, and being Protestant, as she is. There are a few other Duchies, also Protestant, upon which Prussia has cast a desiring eye. The coolness between Prussia and Austria simply arises, therefore, out of a struggle for power, and, sooner or later, the smaller German principalities will be absorbed, as they are Catholic or Protestant, by Southern Austria or Northern Prussia.—Philadelphia Press.

Executive Clemency Again.

You have been informed of the extension of the Executive clemency in the case of Frank Gurley, late a member of the Confederate fraternity, who during the rebellion, murdered in cold blood Major General Edwin McCook, near Murfreesboro', Tennessee, while he was a disabled prisoner in his hands. General McCook was a brave officer of the national army. Gurley, the recipient of the President's courtesy, was a notorious guerilla, and too great a coward to face Northern steel or Northern bullets, and waylaid, like the common assassin, his victim. He is a true type of those who have been receiving from day to day the pardons of the "second Jackson."

Recently, five desperadoes, found guilty by a general court-martial on the charge of murdering United States soldiers in Charleston, South Carolina, and sentenced to be hanged, having secured the influence of prominent reconstructionists, in order to save them from justice, their sentences have been remitted by order of the President, and they are permitted to roam at large, notwithstanding the protestations of Union men.—Correspondence Philadelphia Press.

THE Richmond Examiner says the Kentucky papers are expending much ink and space in the sheerest nonsense about the resolutions of '98. It recommends them to devote themselves for awhile to the ten commandments. Kentucky has two affirmations that she will never get rid of—the resolutions of '98 and Garrett Davis.

WHILE the Copperheads are clamoring alike for the unconditional restoration of the rebels to power and against the civil-rights bill, no Union soldier can forget that scenes like those described below, in a recent letter to the Cincinnati Gazette, are transpiring:

"The white people of Augusta, as well as other points South, having recently made great parade in decorating the graves of the rebel dead with flowers, while the graves of Union soldiers were passed coldly by, the colored people of Augusta determined yesterday to repair the omission. Accordingly they assembled at one of their school houses near the cemetery with flowers, wreaths and banners. Their teachers, white and black, accompanied them, and in peaceful procession they marched to deposit their offerings upon the graves of the nation's dead. A more touching spectacle and one which will appeal more forcibly to every human heart, was seldom seen, but incredible to tell, the procession was met at the gates of the cemetery by the mayor of the city and a strong force of police, and despite the remonstrances of Captain Bryant, the entreaties of the teachers and tears of the poor negroes, was sternly refused admission."

AN officer in the Union army writes from Austin, Texas, to a friend in Memphis: "Two men were taken from their houses, in Bell county, a few days ago, and brutally murdered. They had formerly belonged to Major Speed's command, Second Texas Union cavalry. This has caused considerable excitement among the Union men who left the State and entered the United States army, lest others living in the border counties may share the same fate. Another Union man was found hung near Waco a few days ago."

THE THIRD CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.—Prominent Johnson men from Pennsylvania now on the ground positively deny that there is any serious intention to place a third candidate for Governor in the field. The fact that the two great features of the report of the Joint Committee on Reconstruction meet the approval of the mass of the people, without distinction of party, is poor encouragement for a new organization, the main object of which is to defeat the Union candidate for Governor.

THE London Saturday Review thinks nothing is more absurd than the habit of taking a month's vacation as the only relaxation of a year of incessant toil, and says: "To alternate a long spell of excessive labor with a comparatively short spell of excessive repose is absurd as rational as to maintain that a man who takes a bottle of neat brandy one day and a quart of water the next, has been drinking brandy and water."

THE Copperhead editor of the Peoria (Ill.) Democrat, who counseled the assassination of President Lincoln, writes from Washington that it was at his request that the President removed from the Peoria Postoffice the editor of the Republican paper. He also writes that every Radical Federal office holder in that district will be removed.

JOHN G. SAXE has prepared a new volume of poems, which is about being published. One of the poems, entitled, "The Mourner a la Monde," has the following verse:

Her robe had the hue of the rost,
(How nicely it fitted her shape!)
And the grief that was heaving her breast
Boiled over in billows of crape.

THE Democratic press are dealing out in strong doses for our behoof the present political opinions of Gen. John A. McClernand. During the war we heard of that officer as men do of a drum—when beaten.—Detroit Trib.

THE two members of Congress who opposed a resolution in the House of Representatives, congratulating the Czar of Russia upon his escape from assassination, were two democrats, Ross, of Ill., and Ancona, of Pa.

THE cattle plague is being rapidly extinguished in England. The prohibition of the transportation of cattle, and the summary slaughter of all that are diseased, is the medicine administered.

The Failure of L. P. Bayne.

The recent failure of L. P. Bayne, of this city, involving in utter ruin the Mercnants National Bank of Washington, one of the National Depositories, is another evidence of the loose manner in which the question of loyalty and disloyalty has been regarded. Throughout the whole war Mr. Bayne has been prominent for disloyalty, and has been the leader of the clique in this city who devoted all their energies to the depreciation of the National credit and the enhancement of the price of gold. His office was the headquarters of gold gamblers, and the opinion of Mr. Bayne was regarded as not to be doubted or gainsayed. True, he led many of them to losses and utter ruin, and notwithstanding his antecedents in connection with the firm of Bayne, Whithers & Co., of Washington, and as one of the agents for the sale of the best stock of Virginia before the war, he was regarded by the sympathizers with the rebellion as a king of finance.

The fact that a man of these characteristics should have unlimited control of a bank which was a National Depository, and actually used the money of the Government during the war to speculate against its credit and financial existence, is one of the enigmas which we hope that a full investigation of the subject will unravel. In the selection of a National Depository, the loyalty of its directors and managers should be strictly scrutinized, and we are sure there could not be much loyalty in a bank that would loan, without security, to Mr. L. P. Bayne, the sum of seven hundred thousand dollars. The directors did not even take the trouble to require of Mr. Bayne the delivery of what he called his collaterals, but sent a committee to Baltimore to examine as to their character. How they could be regarded as "collaterals" whilst they were in the possession of Mr. Bayne is another point that requires explanation, and also as to what rule of banking that is which loans money on collaterals not in possession, and without knowing what was the character or value of those collaterals. It seems to us that the whole affair cannot be regarded as anything else, but a "grand swindle." There is criminal management and criminal dealing evident in every phase of the transaction, and it is more than apparent that the Merchants' National Bank of Washington has come to the end which its chief managers started it to accomplish, and that it must be closed with the name and fame of the same character that have had their origin and end in that city.—Baltimore American.

THURLOW WEED, in a note upon the recent bombardment of Valparaiso, tells a good story concerning a conversation in 1813 between Farragut and the Russian Admiral visiting New York at that time. Admiral F. was complaining of an American officer who did not capture a Confederate steamer in a neutral port. "Why you would not have done it?" said the Russian. "Yes, sir," replied the American. "But," said the Russian, "your Government would have broken you." "Of course it would," replied Admiral F., "But wouldn't I have had her?" The Russian Admiral laughingly inquired, "Where did you study your international law?" "At Valparaiso, in 1814," replied Admiral Farragut, "where superior British force, in violation of neutrality laws, captured the United States fregate Essex, and the British commander was right, for we had nearly destroyed British commerce in the Pacific Ocean, and it he let us escape we should have finished what was left. There are emergencies when officers must act under a higher law."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

AYER'S PILLS—Are you Sick, feeble and complaining? Are you out of order with food, eating derange and make your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the precursors to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and the best protection is a timely use of the right remedy. Take AYER'S PILLS, and cleanse out the disordered humors; purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again. They stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and deranges its natural functions. There, if not relieved, it rests upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering and derangement. While in this condition, take AYER'S PILLS, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint is also true in many of the deep seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangement of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly and many of them surely cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these pills will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they correct such as Headache, Foul Stomach, Dysentery, Biliousness, Indigestion, Dropsy, Derangement of the Liver, Costiveness, Constipation, Heartburn, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Worms and Suppression, when taken in large doses.

They are Sugar Coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are surely the best purgative medicine yet discovered.

AYER'S AGUE CURE,

For the speedy cure of Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague and Autumnal Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, caused for the whole class of diseases originating in the Miasmatic Poison of Marshy Districts, caused by the Malaria of intermittent countries.

This remedy has never failed to cure the severest cases of Chills and Fever, and it has this great advantage over other Ague medicines, that it subdues the complaint, but leaves the system healthy. It contains no quinine or other deleterious substance, nor does it produce quinism or any injurious effect whatever. Ague cures, for the many cold districts of the west, try it and you will endorse these assertions.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., and sold by DR. A. FAHNESTOCK & CO., and by all Druggists. mh16.2md&wF

Retrovey's Turkish Bandolanian will force hair to grow on a bald head, stump according to the present style and fashion and keep it in place. This Retrovey's Turkish Bandolanian Hair Dressing will be sent to any one for a trial to any person who has tried it. It is acknowledged to be the best dressing of the age, the only Hair Dressing and Restorer worthy of the name. Cincinnati Lumber Market.

CINCINNATI, May 7.—The receipts of lumber by river during the past week have increased some what, and the market has been steady at about the quotations of last week, on the average. Some choice lots have been sold at a dollar or two above that rate, and some inferior lots a little below, but, on the whole, prices are fully sustained. The accounts from the Northern lumber regions are hardly as favorable for a large supply, as the unusually low stage of water indicates, as they are not getting out the Run. Our market for seasoned lumber remains steady, but not unusually active. The price of brick will have a marked influence in determining the amount of building this season, and until that is fully settled we need not look for large contracts for building purposes. We still quote yard prices as follows:
